U.S. Driven Into Retreat From Communist Zones "CRACKS" ARE

Methods Reds Use To Make Victims Confess Revealed

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, March 6—(P)—
The United States is being forced into a slow retreat from Russian-dominated eastern Europe by Communist methods ranging from expulsion of Americans to the torture of their native employes.

The fact stood out today from a weekend of sensational developments—which included a claim by the state department that it has finally solved the "mysterious enigma" of how Red police obtain confessions from their innocent victims.

fessions from their innocent victims.

Here are the events bearing on the critical eastern European front of the cold war up to today:

1. Washington, the state department made public the dramatic story of Michael Shipkov, 39-year-old Bulgarlan translator who went through a Communist police torture chamber last August and lived to tell his American friends what happened. Shipkov, recaptured by the Reds, is presumed to be either dead or utterly doomed.

2. At Budapest the Hungarian government—possibly in consultation with Moscow—was looking for a new way to reduce the staff of the American Jeagston there.

tion with Moscow—was looking for a new way to reduce the staff of the American legation there. The United States on Saturday rejected a Hungarian request that the staff be reduced voluntarily on the ground that it is a spy center.

3. From Prague came an American embassy announcement that Czechoslovakia soon will order all support of the country.

Czechoslovakia soon will order all U. S. missionaries to leave the country.

4. In Moscow the American embassy staff was adjusting to a heavy increase in operating costs, which after July 1 will go up 100 per cent. In revealing the ruble last week, the Kremlin knocked out the eight-to-the-dollar special rate for diplomats cutting the exchange to six-to-one on March 1 and to four-to-one on July 1.

The state department is convinced that all along the line the Russians, and their sitellite governments are trying to seal up the cracks which remain in the Iron Curtain. It was in this process that scholarly Micheal Shipkov got caught last August. What happened to him was one of the events which led to the break in American-Bulgarian relations. Shipkov's story, unparallelled in the official public reports of this government, covers a 32-hour period last August. During that time he was under constant questioning by Bulgarian security militia. He finally broke and wrote a detailed onfession of crimes which both he and the state department declared Shipkov's story, so official public report overnment, covers a 32-hour period last August. During that time he was under constant questioning by Bulgarian security militia. He finally broke and wrote a detailed confession of crimes which both he and the state department declared never existed.

The jury filed into the wordict.

Adair himself received the verdict with composure. But his pretty young wife, who has been at his side throughout the trial, broke down and cried. Adair tried to comfort her.

never existed.

The department linked Shipkov's story with the cases of Cardinal Mindszenty and Robert A. Vogeler in Hungary. It described the pressure put on the Bulgarian as an "apparently hypnotic process," and said it explains how Mindszenty, Vogeler and hundreds of other Red police victims may have been broken.

Shipkov was resigned to imprisonment because he was a non-Communist openly employed by the American legation erican legation.

In his 32-hour ordeal, his story related, he was first questioned at length by seven police who displayed an unchangeable conviction that he was a traitor and spy.

Shipkov was slapped and roughed up and forced to stand aginst a wall until he fainted.

Finally, after agreeing that he was guilty of the crimes alleged, he was shocked to discover that more was expected of him. more was expected of him. First, he had to write a lengthy Under further questioning Dr. Sander conceded that he had been taught air in the circulatory system was something to be avoided. The 41-year-old country doctor on trial for murder in the death of the cancer-ridden woman said he called for a syringe the morning of last Dec. 4 after he looked at his patient and thought she was dead.

"It was my opinion then that she was dead," Dr. Sander testified in a calm voice. "I can't explain exactly what action I took then. Something snapped. Why I did it I can't tell. It doesn't make sense."

Labor's majority, 148 seats in the last parliament, shrunk to seven seats in the Feb. 23 elections.

The government's immediate program was disclosed in a speech written by the party for King eorge VI. The speech, delivered at today's formal opening of parliament, was one of broad generalities, notable for what it did not say rather than for what it did. Parliament opened with its usual pomp and circumstance. Flashing jewels, gilt and furs brightened austere London in the centuries old pageantry preceding the opening. Thousands of Britons lined the route from Buckingham Palace to Westminster to see King George and Queen Elizabeth drive in state to inaugurate the new body of lawto inaugurate the new body of law-

The King's speech made no mention of new nationalization of industries, the basic plank in labor's pre-election campaign platform. This shelving of socialization was an obvious bid for the support of the new parliament.

Physician Denies BRITISH LABOR Final Signing Of MAKES MOVE POST FINAL STATE OF THE PROPERTY OF Pact Ends Crisis

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—The signing of a new contrfact sent soft coal miners swarming back to the pits today—ending a serious threat to the nation's economy and promising peace in the coal fields for months to come. For the miners,, the prize they won was $1.40 daily 'package" per man, plus a reasonable asusrance of fairly steady work for at least a year and perhaps until the middle of 1952. For the operators, it meant getting back into business.

For the public the settlement meant relief from four-week strike, rescue from a looming industrial breakdown, and some assurance of stability in the industry, plus higher coal bills.

One operator put the cost of the United Mine Workers' gains at $250,000,000 this year. The extra cost to consumers may be from 25 to 50 cents a ton. The strike-settling contract was signed by UMW Presi-

New Business For Corsicana

A new business establishment for Corsicana opens Saturday known as "Self Service. Variety" at 323 North Beaton street.

Mrs. W. E. Farmer is the owner and manager of the variety business and will provide a "variety of everything."

The building has been replastered and repainted and presents a fine setting and background for the extensive stock from pencils to large mirrors.

Dog's Head Shows Positive Rabies

A black, tan and white hound killed on the Keen packing plant grounds earlier in the week showed "positive" rabies infection according to information received Thursday afternoon by Dr. W. R. Matthews, Corsicana veterinarian, who sent the head to Austin for examination.

Dr. Matthews said he did not know the owner of the dog or hnow the owner of the dog or where he had traveled. It was wearing a plain leather band about the neck without idenification tags. Witnesses reported the dog was traveling in a southeasterly direction immediately before it was killed.

Old Farm Problem Of Want, Plenty

Existing At Same Time Back Again

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, March 6—(AP)—
The old farm problem of want and plenty existing at the same time is appearing again, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said today.

Shortages of food which plagued even the big food producing countries during and directly after the war are being replaced by surpluses in those countries including the United States, he reported.

Yet these surpluses, the secretary said, are very small when measured in terms of needs in undernourished areas of the world.

This picture of the farm problem, from an international viewpoint, was painted by Brannan in his annual report to President Truman.

Stating that poverty and hunger in shortage areas cause political as well as economic instability, the secretary said it is "our duty and our interest to help such areas toward stability and progress"

Brannan said solution of this country's farm surplus problem requires action on both the international and domestic fronts. This country, he said, must buy more from foreign countries so that they would have the money with which to buy. American farm products. On the domestic front there is need, Brannan said, for more effective farm price support machinery to prevent a new farm-led national depression.

"Currently, our purchase price-support programs encourage overproduction on the one hand and underconsumption on the other," he said.

Year On Farms BY SAM DAWSON NEW YORK, March 6.—(P)— One crop that may be bigger than ever this year has the farmers and the planners worried. That's the crop of bugs. crop of bugs. Last year, with government storare bins groaning and more bumper crops on the way, federal bug-fighters spent nearly $3 million to hold down damage to crops. This year they may ask up to $4 million for the battle.

The reason for the fight is a matter of dollars and cents: Bugs take a $4 billion toll a year from food and fiber producers. This year the toll could go much higher, the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine thinks. And letting bugs run riot is the last way the nation

DALLAS, March .—(P)—Establishment of a new corps of engineers district office at Fort Worth about April 10 was announced today by Col. Louis W. Prentiss, division engineer.

The Fort Worth district office will execute flood control and water conservation and utilization functions for the area heretofore handled by the Galveston district office. The Galveston district office will continue in charge of river and harbor activities and military construction, Col. Prentiss said.

An area engineer office has been located at Fort Worth since 1946 and personnel of that office will be expanded as necessary to meet district requirements, the announcement said. The expansion will include the transfer of such employes of the Galveston office as have been engaged in flood control activities, "Col. Prentiss said transfer of such employes of the Galveston office as have been engaged in flood control and water conservation work to Fort Worth will provide a location more central to these problems and activities, "and will better serve the convenience and requirements of the people directly affected."

The announcement did not say who will be district engineer at Fort Worth.

Mexico Scores

U. S. Policy
MEXICO CITY, March 6-0P) MEXICO CITY, March o-verThe leading newspaper Excelsior says editorially today that U. S.
measures to halt illegal immigration of Mexicans are "not in harmony with a good neighbor policy."
These are "scarcely justifiable in the case of wild beasts," the paper said.

These are scarcily justinate in the case of wild heasts," the paper said.

The paper said Mexican laborers were welcomed when the U. S. needed them during the war but now "they receive bad treatment in the South of the U. S.—by a bitter paradox, in the land which was ours." It also said U. S. patrols had been ordered to "shoot without warning those suspected of trying to enter the country."

But Excelsior added that a great part of the blame lies on Mexico for conditions "which oblige our workers to emigrate." It listed "misery" of farmers which it said arose from political bosses in rural areas, lack of personal and property security for farm workers and small farmers, and activity of agrarian leaders seeking to expropriate land.

Man Accused Of Stealing Plane Says Can't Fly

MT. Carmel, Ill., March 6.—(P)

—A warrant has been issued charging a Tulsa, Okla., man with "unlawful transportation of an airplane in interstate commerce x x x' but the man insists he cant fly an airplane.

Robert Pryor, 27, was arrested at a hotel here after a plane, stolen in Amarillo, Texas, last Sunday, was found at the Mt. Carmel airport.

Three persons have identified Pryor as the pilot. Sheriff E. H., Kennard said. But Pryor refuses to answer questions except to say he knows nothing about the plane nor how to fly one.

Texas Makes Good Safety Progress

DALLAS, March 6--(P)-C. Reynolds Weaver, member of President Truman's Highway Safety conference, says Texas has made "miraculous" but not good enough progress in getting away from traffic deaths.

Here for the 11th annual Texas Safety Conference, opening today, he suggested a safety program which would (1) Follow up all driver violation records, and (2) Follow up all accident records.

The Texas meeting begins with Governor Allan Shivers of Texas as speaker at the first session. James D. Arrington, editor-lawyermayor of Collins, Miss., will speak at a banquet tonight.

Weaver is president of the Au-tomotive Safety Foundation and assistant to the general chairman of the president's conference. He made his remarks in an interview.

Train Derails Near Teague; Two Injured

FREESTONE, Tex., March 4-(AP)-A fast Burlington streamliner was derailed today after it struck a stalled, unoccupied automobile. Two women recived very slight injuries.

A moment before the impact, Mrs. Ernestine Mandeville of Freestone plucked her two-year-old daughter. Brenda, from the stalled automobile and leaped out of the path of the onrushing train. The Sam Houston Zephyr, bound from Houston to Dallas and Fort Worth, hit the car and tossed it aside. But the cowcatcher of the engine had been dented, and 50 yards from the Freestone grade crossing it hit a switch. This threw the engine off the track and it plowed into the earth, ripping up rails. The engine did not turn over nor did any of the cars, Mrs. Bob Crow, Teague newspaperwoman,

"After the accident," she said, "all the cars were off the track. They were in zig-zag positions up and down the track." All cars and the engine were leaning, she said. The accident occurred about 11 a. m. Freestone is in East Texas, approximately 50 miles south of) Corsicana.

"It was a miracle a lot of us weren't killed," said Mrs. J. E. Waddell of Brecken idge, a passenger on the train. Mrs. A. E. Etheridge of Kerens Nancy Mann of Houston had a
